This one-day workshop introduces educators to approaches for personal and professional renewal and to practical applications that bring reflection, SEL and informal mindfulness practices to the adult community of schools to build relational trust. Can we increase relational trust to help make our schools, colleges and universities healthier and safer environments for teaching and learning? How can we remain connected to our deepest aspirations for our students in the face of ever-increasing demands? This day draws on work developed as part of Leading Together, a leadership program of the Center for Courage & Renewal (www.couragerenewal.org/leadingtogether).

Come join us for a day of nourishing silence, mindful awareness practices and reflection. Develop your capacity to be fully alive, to rest in your present moment experience with openness and kindness. You will be guided through a variety of mindful awareness practices including sitting and walking meditation, mindful eating, and mindful movement. There will be meditations for cultivating sensory clarity, focus, loving-kindness and compassion. This day is for beginners as well as those with prior meditation experience. "Only the day dawns to which you are awake." Henry David Thoreau
